Departure and Inspection Procedures at Checkpoint No. 7

Transfer to the "Buran" Hangar Assembly and Refueling Complex

Tour of the Assembly and Refueling Complex

This is where the two "Buran" space shuttles are located—a place many adventure seekers once longed to visit. Together with our guides, you'll gain access there completely legally and will be able to see the great legacy of the Soviet space program in person.

Transfer to the "Energia" Dynamic Testing Stand

Inspection of the "Energia" Launch Vehicle and the Dynamic test rig

Inside the dynamic test rig, the launch vehicle was subjected to various loads in order to identify critical parameters and improve the performance of this massive structure

Transfer to Site No. 1

Tour of the "Gagarin Launch Site"

It was from this launch site that humanity paved the way into space. On April 12, 1961, Yuri Alekseyevich Gagarin took off from Launch Pad No. 1 on a flight into Earth's orbit; the launch complex was later named in his honor.

Transfer to Site No. 31

Watching the launch of the Soyuz launch vehicle

Countdown to launch! The highlight of this trip is the rocket launch and watching it hurtle toward Earth's orbit. At that moment, you'll truly experience what the "roar of the cosmodrome" is all about!
